neat, containing, among other things, a radio and bookshelf (and the ubiquitous rat traps on the rafters). His back yard is as neat as his spruce little front garden. When he spoke he sounded, for all his years, like a chalcuts of twenty, of the type whose boisterous optimism has been so splendidly vindicated. Here is the gist of his story.

Sidna 'Ali has, at the moment, a population of 88 families comprising about 250 souls. There is no room for more at the moment, as a number of houses were wantonly damaged while the war was on. It is, however, planned to build temporary housing accommodation between Sidna 'Ali proper and the neighbouring workers' village, the inhabitants of which have been most helpful to the new settlers. Indeed, they have just proposed to combine the two communities and have set about forming a joint local council. Since they are a well-established, experienced and prosperous community, it is clear where the advantage would lie.

EUROPE-SHANGHAI SIDNA 'ALI
The settlers of Sidna 'Ali are newcomers to the country, all of them having fled from Europe. Some of them, like my informant, have come via Shanghai, where they spent several years. They are, however, mostly artisans, not of the type that has, for obvious reasons, given the epithet "Shanghai" a somewhat derogatory twist in our parlance.

The water supply at present is unreliable, as it is provided by an Arab well with a pump so venerable that it actually lets all the water into the water tower and again, though never so often as my first informant made out. New pipes, however, have already been laid, and only the last of them still remains to be connected up. Then an inexhaustible supply of water with excellent pressure will be provided from the huge reservoir of Kafar Shemaryahu near by.

POSSIBILITIES OF EMPLOYMENT
Work is not unobtainable, but neither has full employment been attained yet. According to Mr. Kohn, my friend of the local council—any man willing to work can reckon on four days' employment a week. In addition, all the women who care to do so can get housework at the hotel or at the numerous boarding houses and private homes in the surrounding area, which is noted as a holiday resort. At the hotel, for instance, they can earn IL.175 mls a day and a good lunch. "My wife, who is a school teacher," says Mr. Kohn, "works in a hotel—morning only. Of course, there are such as say they can't pluck chickens for eight hours a day, and that is that." Some trades provide full employment, such as stone cutting. Other

Yesterday a Cellar...

Today a Fun-Full Games Room!

This Front Cellar, once cold and unattractive, was used for nothing but storage space — until TEN/TEST* turned it into a comfortable, fun-full Games Room.

Standard TEN/TEST Panels, in attractive natural finish, set horizontally, now form dado over rough cement walls... TEN/TEST is bevelled and set diagonally for upper walls... and Ashlar Blocks bring beauty to the old unsightly ceiling. Masonite Tempered Flooring forms smart, durable, easily-cleaned floor.

The cost was small, the job quickly done, the enjoyment of this new comfortably-insulated room is unending. If you have an unused cellar or attic... TEN/TEST can do as much for YOU!

In building a new home — in renovating an old one — remember TEN/TEST. It's the rigid board that combines lifetime structural strength with maximum insulating efficiency. War needs have caused a shortage of TEN/TEST... but write for samples and detailed information to International Fibre Board Limited, Galtneau, Que., Dept. 000.

trades will do so in the near future. Seven men are now learning to fish under the guidance of a Jewish expert and an Arab who knows local conditions. A co-operative of eight men is setting up a little plant for manufacturing hollow cement blocks for building. Twelve men are regularly employed in a factory near Sidna 'Ali. A group of ten are working as mason's assistants at a wage of IL.1500 mls a day (by no means bad for a start). When they have learned their trade, they will be able to command the astronomic wages now being earned by all skilled building workers. As every householder has from two to three dunams of irrigable land, there is nothing to prevent them from doing something with that. Forty-eight families have already started modern chicken runs.

IT COULD BE A LOT WORSE
"Rats?" says Mr. Kohn. "Yes, there are. So there were in the tents in camp. The houses were roofed during a terrific storm in February, so that some of the tiles worked loose, and we have no ceilings as yet. But we'll have them soon, and electricity, too. I should like to use the radio myself, but that can wait. The old hands down in the workers' village have had good houses for more than ten years, and they also have to make do with oil lamps. When I and some others have set up our workshops — I'm a locksmith and plumber — we shall want current for our machinery, and then
