EXAMPLE TO EACH OTHER
"Really it is very nice for a Jew to be called a Christian as well, since he is setting an example of how Christians should behave, too. It is a good lesson for them. Maybe that's the way the Jews can be missionaries to those who call themselves Christian, but don't really behave that way; not to convert them to Judaism, but to give them an idea of how a Christian should do in the world."
"A Good Christian behaves up to the example of a good Jew and a good Jew is a man who, in spiritual and moral ways, measures up with the good Christians. When Mr. Sunday called you a good Christian, you might have stood up and said, 'Mr. Sunday, you are a good Jew!'"
So father congratulated me. I am sure Rabbi Lefkowitz feels as my father did about being called Christian. I extend my hand to Rabbi Sidney Lefkowitz, of Jacksonville, who as a Jew is aware that he is not a separate man, but knows the brotherhood and keeps trying hard to stay with it!

Country of origin, poor, lovely land,
Like a homeless queen, a king uncrowned
With only seven days of spring
And rain and mist the whole year round.
For seven days the flowers turn red,

For seven days the dew is bright;
And all the windows are thrust wide
And all the beggars stand outside
Lifting their pallor to the light;
Then all your beggars are blithe.
Country of origin, poor, lovely land,
Homeless queen, or king uncrowned,
With seven days of feasting a year
And toil and hunger all the year round.
Yet for seven days the candles are blessed,
For seven days no table is bare,
For seven days your hearts are wide
And all your beggars stand at prayer;
Your sons and daughters are bridegroom and bride
And your beggars are brothers at rest.
Therefore I shall walk through every street,
Courtyard or marketplace, square or lane,
Gathering the smallest stone from your ruins,
That you may be remembered again.
I speak of your radiant poverty
From region to region, from town to town

Best Wishes for a Bright and Happy Chanukah to all our Jewish Patrons and Friends in Calgary and throughout Western Canada
