

Lubavitcher Rebbe Calls for Torah Study for the Elderly

New York (LNS) — The Lubavitcher Rebbe, Rabbi Menachem M. Schneerson, has called for vigorous, widespread efforts to establish various levels of Torah study groups for senior citizens.

The Rebbe, in a public address at Lubavitch World Headquarters in New York, took note of the growing number of elderly or retired Jewish men and women who are worried and frustrated not knowing how to fill up their day.

"They seek a meaningful content for their everyday life after retirement and cannot seem to find it. Meanwhile, due to the general neglect in the proper care for the elderly, the younger generation is deprived of a vast, priceless resource, the ability, the knowledge and experience which the elderly have acquired during their lifetime.

"There should be no such thing as compulsory retirement," the Rebbe said. "Older people who are compelled for whatever reason to 'retire,' to relinquish their jobs or positions, should be helped to redirect their lives productively, for their own sake and for the benefit of the younger generation."

The Rebbe proposed that every community, and each synagogue or other communal facility within it, establish special Torah study classes for men, and classes for women, to convene every day for as many hours as possible, on a level adaptable to the particular group.

The Rebbe mentioned that in most nursing homes special staff is maintained to see that the elderly be kept busy, and recommended that these Torah study classes become an integral part of their daily program.

The Rebbe made clear that he was addressing himself to the needs of all the elderly, including those who do lead active, productive lives, that they also take part in these Torah study groups.

The occasion of the Rebbe's address was the 36th yearzeit of his father, Rabbi Levi Yitzchok Schneerson, who was chief rabbi of Yekaterinoslav (now Dniepropetrovsk), U.S.S.R. He was arrested by the communists in 1939 because he was spreading Judaism amongst his people, and was exiled to Kazakhstan in Central Russia. He passed away there in a remote townlet in 1944.

The Rebbe proposed that at least part of these daily studies be on the Sedra of the week, universally shared by all Jews, and which would unite study groups all over the world.

The Rebbe also suggested that these groups be called "Colel Tifereth Zekeinim" (Glory of the Elders).
