a bit of a hobby. Most of us, perhaps, fail to dwell on the discrimination and loss of liberty—between a sign saying restricted clientele and a democratic way of life—between a factory saying "We don't employ Jews" and the chance of failure of the United Nations. We don't see the connection because we don't want to see it. Or, it is because we like our prejudices and hates?

Let's not delude ourselves. The seeds of this evil thing are here in this Canada of ours. In Montreal about two years ago, seven cars, said to be driven by English-speaking youths, raced through the Jewish district attracting attention with a screaming siren and a banner proclaiming "Death to Jews." A motorcycle led the way, carrying a crudely-made gallows, from which hung a Jewish figure. This was the second Nazi-like demonstration within a week's time, and addy enough, no one was apprehended.

Maclean's Magazine in its November 1 issue quotes one member of the Engineering Faculty of the University of Toronto, who says bluntly "If a Jewish student came to me and asked whether he should go into engineering, I think I'd ask him to reconsider in the light of the few job opportunities available to him."

Again in the legal profession, a recent census showed that out of 578 Jewish lawyers, only one had been elevated to the Bench.

Perhaps you know that Canada has two political parties that make anti-Semitism an open policy—the Social Credit Party, and especially the extreme right wing called The Douglas Social Credit Council in the west—and in Quebec, the Union of Electors.

There are several effective ways to combat intolerance. In 1945 the State of New York established a State Commission against discrimination. This is a five-member group appointed by the Governor. On the board is a member of the board of education, a Negro journalist, a labor advisor, a Catholic and a Jewish representative. This board has the power to look into complaints on discrimination in employment—and it works! Not perfectly, of course, but what does? Sometimes the complaints are found to be false; sometimes a Jewish employer discrimevidence of their misdemeanor. If we had such a commission, our Canadian citizens would not be able to receive such letters as this: "Owing to your nationality we feel it would be better for you not to come to work tomorrow." That letter was sent to a Jewish boy in Toronto—a veteran, too. Can you imagine the cruelty of that statement! It is more than a slap in the face—it is a stab in the back. Not only to the man himself, but to his wife and children. In truth, it denies his right to live in this country, for which he fought. It denies his very right to breathe.

A properly run fair employment commission could handle such cases, and there are lots of them, with the power to fine and prosecute where necessary.

We must not let the destroyers of our democratic way of life get off scot-free. Whenever you hear someone crudely insulting the entire group of our Canadian Jewry, or our Canadian Negroes, or our Canadian Japanese, don't let that someone, whoever he may be, get away with it.

Yes, individuals—you and I—can do a great deal to stop careless slanderous talk, but it will take the concerted action of our organized citizens' groups to stamp out discrimination. In 1947 the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews was established in Canada. It is now being organized on a nationwide basis. Any individual or group making a contribution is considered to be a member. The annual budget is a mere $24,000. The council believes that those who differ strongly in religious belief can work together toward mutual goals. They seek to promote by educational means justice, amity, co-operation and understanding among Catholics, Protes-
