PWO Culminates Drive for Membership

On November 5, 1980, Pioneer Women-Na'amat of Winnipeg culminated its month long membership campaign with a fashion show and social evening at the Rosh Pina Synagogue. To highlight the evening, an original fashion show, exhibiting products of Na'amat schools in Israel, was viewed by a capacity audience. The models were members and daughters of members from the organization. The commentator was Marianna Kiva, vice-president of Winnipeg Council. Presentations were made to new life members and new members.

An emotional moment occurred when Mrs. Ida Goldstein, a member of Hanita Chapter, was honored by the Talmud Torah-Joseph Wolinsky Collegiate board of directors with a life membership in Pioneer Women-Na'amat, in appreciation for her generous hospitality to Israeli teachers. As an added attraction door prizes were drawn. In her remarks, the president, Sharon Bronstone, emphasized "the importance and the necessity of retaining and gaining members to ensure the continuity of our work."

Among other highlights of this campaign was the presentation of an honorary certificate and life

DEPUTY MAYOR PEARL MCGONIGAL

membership pin to Winnipeg's Deputy Mayor Pearl McGonigal at a ceremony held at City Hall. As the first new member of the 1980-81 membership campaign, Mrs. McGonigal commented, in accepting the honor, that she was delighted to be associated with an organization that showed not only concern for its work in Israel but with the welfare of all in their own society.

Marks to Head Social Workers

Les Marks, executive director of the YMHA, has been elected president of the Manitoba Association of Social Workers. The Association announced "that we are indeed fortunate in having someone of his experience and calibre accepting this key and challenging role in the Association ... over the next few years, we will be faced with a number of crucial issues, and we need strong leadership ..."

As executive director of the YMHA, Les has had much experience working with boards and budgets. Graduating with Bachelor and Master of Social Work degrees from the University of Manitoba, in the group work sequence, Les has worked with young and old in settings such as camping, neighborhood groups, street work, etc. He has also been a field instructor at the School in both the former masters and present bachelors program, has lectured at the School in Social Work Practices I, and was a lecturer in the Faculty of Education

Hadassah-Wizo Bazaar And Fun Fair Nov. 30

Hadassah-Wizo Bazaar chairman Harriet Rodin says that all is in readiness for the 1980 Bazaar and "Family Fun Fair." The warehouse is flooded with merchandise; co-chairmen Rochelle Stone and Harriet Lyons are hard at work sorting, storing, and recording items of every size, shape, color, and description.

While the warehouse has been one centre of activity, food services has been busy baking, cooking, freezing, packaging, so that everyone attending the Bazaar will be well-fed. Chairmen Adele McLachlin and her committee have checked out blintzes and bagels, soup and salamis. The ladies of Queen Esther Chapter have simmered caudrons of soup and knishes. But, that's to eat at the Bazaar. If you want to take goodies home, the baking carousel is the place. Pauline Zinman and Gail Hyman have been packaging, pricing, and making all the baking look as beautiful as it tastes.

Fashion is the word and saving is the way. The Boutique is stocked with magnificent merchandise. Diane Harris and Zora Stern are delighted with the calibre of this year's stock, and the prices are not to be believed. For new and nearly-new clothing for everyone from baby to zayda the Bazaar is the place.

Becky Sokolov Chapter has geared up for the "Fantastic Fun Fair." While mom and dad shop, the kids can enjoy rides, games, meet the Great Root Bear, and see Ronald McDonald's super new stage show (at 2:30). And for more entertainment there's the Free Stage that Joanie Rusen has arranged. It runs all afternoon courtesy of the Community Folk Arts Council of Winnipeg and Iris Walsh of Weightwatchers.

House chairmen Rochelle Nozick and Suzanne Golden are counting plugs, allotting spaces, timetabling everything for a super, smooth, successful Bazaar. Tillie Shapiro has outdone herself for this year's Auction. Wally Wachniak runs the main auction at 7 p.m. and there's a continuous silent auction for gift certificates all through the day. A raffle could win you $1200 worth of groceries.

The special Bazaar committee has been tying up loose ends, giving 100 per cent for a super-successful event.

All involved are hoping for a record-breaking turnout Sunday, November 30, at the Convention Centre from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
